Aminio New Liveous's Massa on The annual message of the President of the sited States is alreays a more importan-cement than that which emanates from Hi-closty on the opening of Parliamon Visite the latter is generally a merely form attention, abconding in the most meag-mum places—for the years chiefet is that the general policy of the Cabinet at Washington has assumed a defined and settled Washington has assumed a defined and settled alaps and is protty throughly understood by alaps and is protty throughly understood by the world at large. At has same time the condition of the Republic is worthy of notice, and must be in-creating to every person who is desirous of sundying contemporaneous history—especially of the most important creams which have prehably ever before taken phase in the political world.

place in the political world.

It appears that after all the drain upon the population during the past three years and a half of war, there is an actual increase of citizens—in, nother words, of man flable to bear arms—of 145781. It is not difficult, of course, to point to the principal cause of the course, to point to the principal case of time strandfunity increase in the simmense injungration from Europe; but the fact is migration from Europe; but the fact is migration from Europe; but the fact is migration to the strandfunity of the world. It certainly a grafifying commentary to the human results of the world. It certainly a grafifying commentary to the human results of the present of the present expression of the present car is 19 450—a large number really not very small whom we consider the nature and number of the conjects. This proves one of two things—that the wounds, generally speaking, received on the battle-field ware or a triding character, or that American surery has attained, through the extentive photics of the join threel years and is half, a proficiency that is truly autoniching.

The slave question forchs a prominent feature in the measure. The amendment is this Convitation, abulshing abover, throughout the Justed States, which passed the Senate last easien but was not carried by the molessey (wo-thirds majority in the House, the President senio presses upon the attention of Congress. He points out to the pre-slavery mombers in the House of Mepresentative that the resent elections indicate is largely increasing anti-slavery sentiment, and that it the present House does not pass the among ment the sent House does not pass the among ment the sent House does not pass the among the force of the popular will. So far as bilimed if so concread, he declares his estile purpose of neither retreating nor medifying the emanicipation proofination, out of greaters ig no slave y a single person who is medifice by that selberased manifesto. If the pope, "any Licotin, should by whatever mole or means make it my executive duty recialis west persons, ano her and not I must be their instrument." Brave words and worthy the upright man who assent them. To show that his is no lip liberty nor comfined to the circumstances of the war, he suggest.

"In saing a single condition of passes," he conclude," I mean simply to de that he was will make on the just of the Government whenever it shall have consected in the part of the Government whenever it shall have consected in the part of these who begain it." Of all the measure the present beings hat he have hope to the Bouth. They are told as distinctly as words and tell short, that heshing hat their, exhaustions will now satisfy the North. The disposition which was wringed in foreign measures to be femical, if not exactly the compromising, is not an apparent in the present one. "The door of the aminesty proclemation," easy the message, "I still upon to all, but the time way come when the public dary shall demand that it be closed, and that to like thereof more vigorous measures than heretofers thall be adepted."
